Edward Acosta

255 Elm Street

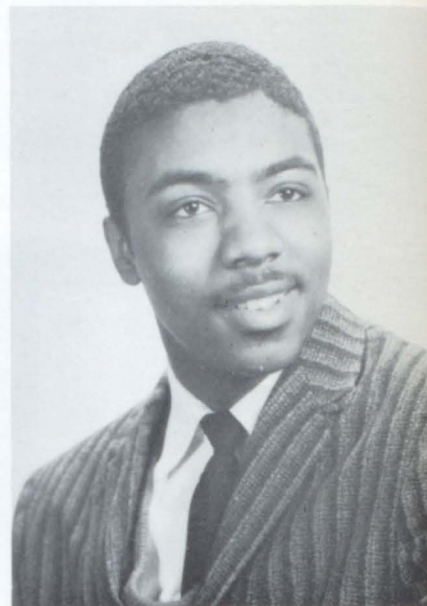

And, Oh! he had that merry glance
That seldom lady's heart can resist.

Altino Morais Almeida

47 Houston Street

Quietness and confidence shall be your strength.

William Arrington

296 Camden Street

'Tis the voice of sluggard I hear him complain;
You've waked me too soon, I must slumber again.

Marlene May Auchter

117 Magazine Street

This is Art's truth, and eternal Reason,
Which from beauty takes its dress—

Geraldine Margaret Augustine

93 1/2 Prospect Street

A bending staff I would not break
A feeble faith I would not shake.

Margaret Azivedo

167 Lafayette Street

That neither in my heart nor my outward eye
Envy the great or the lowly despise.

Evangelina Aznar

120 Union Street

The joy of youth and health her eyes
display'd,
And ease of heart her every look conveyed.

Carol Ann Bieksha

233 Ferry Street

The true ambition, there alone resides,
Where justice vindicates and wisdom guides.

William James Bartell

134 Jackson Street

Politeness is to do and say
The kindest thing in the kindest way.

John Theodore Brych

63 Mott Street

How happy is he born and taught,
That serveth not another's will—

Millie Mary Berenguer

210 Elm Street

Heart on her lips and soul within her eyes
Soft as her clime, and sunny as her skies.

Joseph Manuel Busto

302 Walnut Street

Content is wealth, the riches of mind;
And happy is he who can such riches find.

George Caldeira, Jr.

159 Polk Street

Whatever comes, let's be content with all:
Among God's blessings there is no one small.

Beatrice Callahan

153 Union Street

Such blue inner light from her eyelids outbroke,
You looked at her silence and fancied she spoke.

Rita Calleo

267 Elm Street

True happiness is to no spot confined,
If you preserve a firm and constant mind.

Anthony Frank Campanaro

413 East Kinney Street

Imagination is not a talent of some men
But is the health of every man.

Mary Ann Chigas

11 Merchant Place

The rising blushes, which her cheek

Slim and tall and friendly to all.

Frank Angelo Cullari

120 Prospect Street

With emphasis and also good sense—
He danced without theatrical pretence.

John Manuel Da Costa

48 Jefferson Street

As the roving stone gathers no moss,
So the roving heart gathers no affection.

Rosemarie Connie D'Alessio

173 Delancy Street

And her dark eyes—how eloquent!
Ask what they would, 'twas granted.

Some ladies' judgment in their features lies
And all their beauty sparkles from their eyes.

Jadwiga M. Kozimor

299 New York Avenue

Be to her virtues very kind,
Be to her faults a little blind.

Daniel John Lemos

236 Walnut Street

Keep up appearances; there lies the test;
The world will give thee credit for the rest.

Willie Matthew Kreps

30 Monmouth Street

Thou wisely careless, innocently gay,
Cheerful he played the trifle, Life, away.

Norman J. Lewis

3 Roanoke Court

Speech is silver, silence is golden.

Allan George Kutyla

71 Bethany Road, Hazlet

Few boys are born with talents that excel,
But all are capable of doing well.

Michael Edward Liszewski

67 Merchant Street

To him no high, no low, no great, no
small;
He fills, he bounds, connects and equals all!

Francis Albert Maloney

208 1/2 Third Street

He was carefree and pleasant to be with.

Carol Ann Marek

Yet fair as a lily just plucked from its stem.

Hazel Ann Petrucelli

575 Hawthorne Avenue

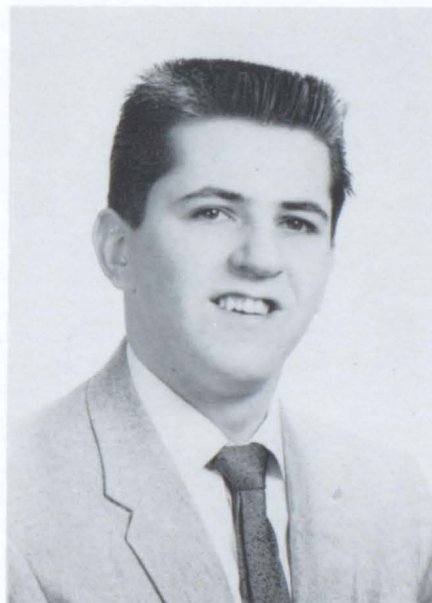

Her bright smile haunts me still.

Robert John Nieratko

146 Fleming Avenue

Life is a jest, and all things show it;
I thought so once, but now I know it.

Salvatore Thomas Petruzzi

82 Jackson Street

From toil he wins his spirits light,
From busy day the peaceful night—

Carol Ann Notte

12 Prospect Row

She dances like an angel.

Barbara Ann Pierson

59 Merchant Street

Now the red wins upon her cheek,
Now white with crimson closes—

Joanne Policastro

350 New York Avenue

When desire doth bear the way,
The heart must rule, the head obey.

Kathryn Carolyn Policastro

314 Lafayette Street

Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare
And beauty draws us with a single hair.

Michael George Prignano

85 McWhorter Street

Man's work is to labor and leaven
As best he may on earth and in heaven.

Marina Romay

209 Ferry Street

A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance.

Patrick Angelo Rozzo

67 Pacific Street

A courage mightier than the sun—
You rose and fought and, fighting, won!

Linda Katherine Rupp

98 Gotthart Street

Maidens must be mild and meek,
Swift to hear and slow to speak.

Angele B. Saveikas

24 Wall Street

A face with gladness overspread!
Soft smiles, by human kindness bred.

Gail Katherine Schnegelberger

41 Garrison Street

The fairest garden in her looks,
And in her mind the wisest books.

Frank Everett Scholz

251 New York Avenue

You are not only good yourself, but the cause of goodness in others.

Diana Margaret Schwarz

327 New York Avenue

Your laughing lips, and roguish eyes,
Makes you a red-haired angel in disguise.

Philip S. Scibilia

137 Prospect Street

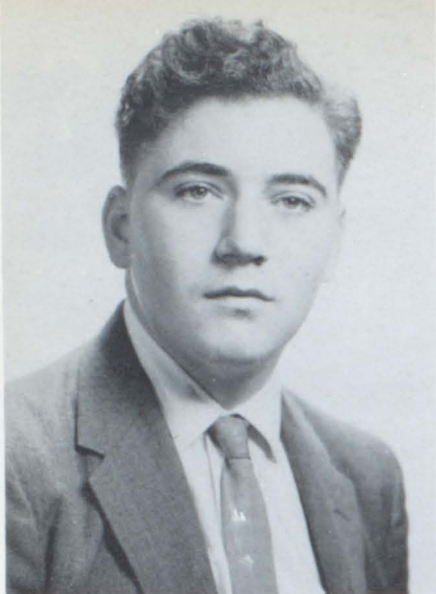

Who friendship with a knave has made
Is judged a partner in the trade.

Carolyn D. Serratelli

39 Valley Street

A beautiful maiden moved down in the dance
With the magic of motion and sunshine of glance.

Benny Sierra

59 Ferguson Street

Business dispatched is business well
done,
But business hurried is business ill
done.

Priscilla Ann Silveira

46 Lexington Street

When nature's happiest touch could add no more
Heaven lent an angel's beauty to her face—

Joan Victoria Skiengel

48 Hawkins Street

Beware of her fair hair, for she excels
All women in the magic of her locks.

Mary Ann Helen Spager

525 Mulberry Street

I know a maiden fair to see,
She can both shy and friendly be.

Gloria J. Sparrow

109 Seth Boyden Terrace

Good humor only teaches charms to last,
Still makes new conquests and maintains the past.

30 Calumet Street

Tranquility! thou better name.
Than all the family of Fame.

Martin Joseph Spielman

1 Roanoke Court

Man is his own star; and that the soul can
Be honest, is the only perfect man.

Joan Marie Staff

145 Wilson Avenue

Charm is a sort of bloom on a woman,
If you have it, you don't need anything else.

Edith Ann Taylor

19½ Esther Street

She is pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with.

Robert Charles Tomczyk

13 Crestwood Avenue, Belleville

To be happy here is Man's chief end,
For to be happy he must needs be good.

Pauline Travitt

3 Riverview Court

And even while fashion's brightest arts decoy,
The heart will ask distrustingly if this be joy.

Maria Dolores Trueba

103 Union Street

Fairest and best is she
Whose virtue is humility.

Mildred Tucker

198 Thomas Street

Tap, you siren of melody soft and sweet
Tap, while I follow your tireless feet.

Kathleen Van Riper

1 Riverview Court

Through the sunset of hope,
Like the shapes of a dream,
What Paradise islands of glory gleam!

Anthony Joseph Velardo

281 Adams Street

Nature magically suits a man to his fortunes,
Making them the fruit of his character.

Marcy Ann Wichowski

108 Fleming Avenue

Her air, her manners, all who saw admired;
Courteous though coy, and gentle though retired—

Juanita Williams

50 Treacy Avenue

The great mind knows the power of gentleness,
Only tries force because persuasion fails.

Kenneth Harold Williams

274 West Kinney Street

His merry spirit seems our comrade yet.

Barbara Ann Zentz

338 New York Avenue

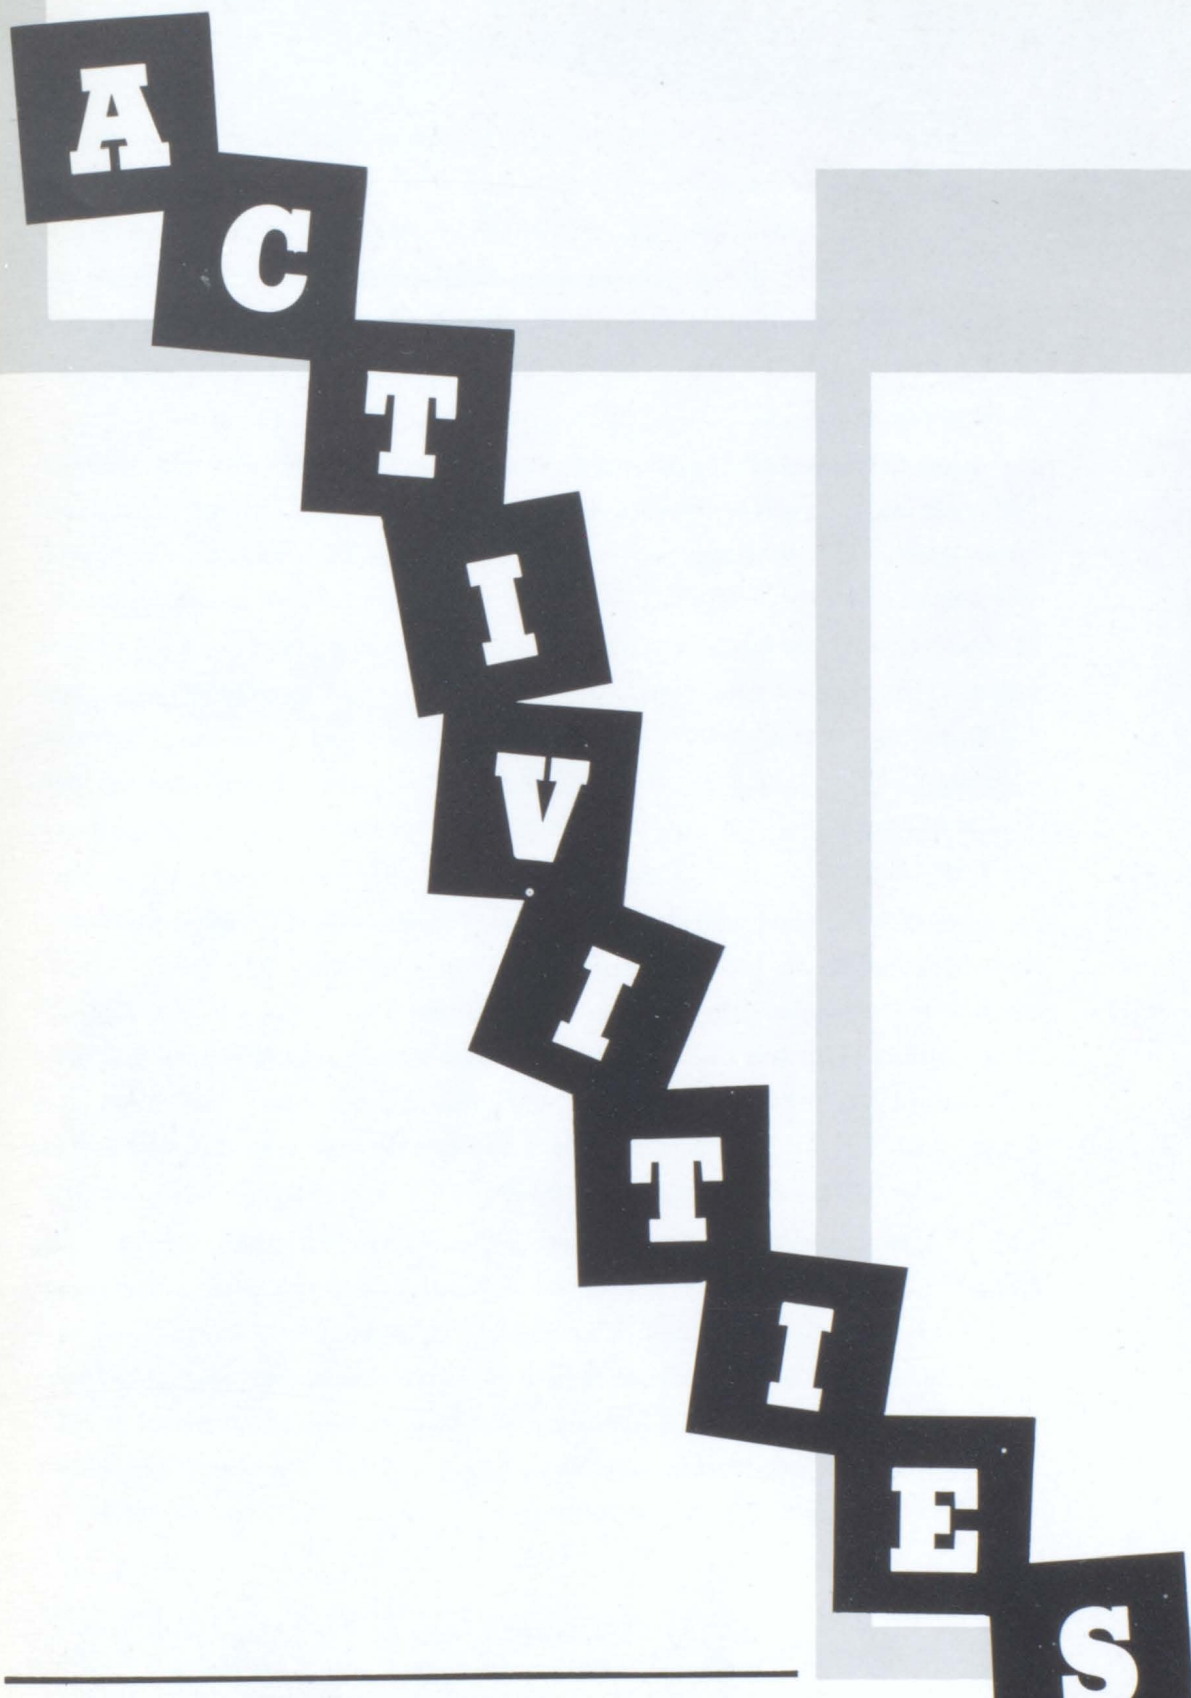

Those curious locks so aptly twined—
Whose every hair a soul doth bind.

Jo Ann Zentz

9 Brinsmaid Place

A perfect woman, nobly planned
To warn, to comfort, and command.

Class History

Do you remember February of 1955? We entered, at that time, a new phase of life. Over 200 of us were received at East Side Commercial and Technical High School, in a newly constructed auditorium, as the 9B students. We became acquainted with a new school routine which was to become a part of our daily lives.

The first summer passed and we returned to both joy and sadness. Although we had been here but a short while, everyone had come to know and honor Michael A. Windus, our football coach, and his death on October 7, 1955 was a great shock to all of us. In December, under the supervision of Mr. Jannarone, our class adviser, we held our first class meeting. Sports and other activities were patronized by many, and one of our earliest discovered athletes, Patsy Rozzo, attended an honorary dinner at the Essex House on January 9, 1956. Our class had decreased, since a new count recorded only 180 Sophomore B's. Our school's name was shortened and we were now attending, simply, East Side High School.

A great tragedy had befallen the school on October 23, 1956. Dr. Henry A. McCracken, our principal, passed away. Everyone felt a deep sorrow, and in our hearts we thanked him for everything he had done for us. With the death of Dr. McCracken, Mr. Griffiths, our vice-principal, was acting principal until February, 1957, when Mr. A. Walter Ackerman, a former East Sider, was appointed to fill the principalship. He received a warm welcome and we wished him the best of everything for the future.

Our Junior year brought a change in our class activities. We held our first elections and the officers, who were to serve the entire year, were; James Fife, President; Judy Hartman, Vice President; and Jo Ann Zentz, Secretary and Treasurer. We received our school rings this term and wore them with pride. The first class dance, "Rhapsody in Blue", took place on May 10, 1957 and, as expected, proved a big success. To cope with the money problem, we sold Christmas cards and gift wrappings.

Mr. Ackerman announced a change in Senior Day, eliminating the stage show, and making it more formal in order to recognize the true meaning of that day.

On January 10, 1958, we held our second dance. "Fantasy in Frost" was a real winter wonderland dance. And, when January 24 came, we had a surprise in store for us . . . Final Examinations.

The Senior Year began with the election of new officers: Frank Scholz, President; Roy Crawford, Vice President; Mary Ann Di Nicolas, Secretary, and Evangelina Aznar, Treasurer. In March our Senior girls displayed their athletic skill in a basketball game with the women teachers, but unfortunately they lost 28-21, to their elders.

Our proudest day in school was Senior Day on April 18, 1958. We were recognized as Seniors and also were given custody of the Torch of Knowledge. The happiest day of our social lives was that of our Senior Prom, which was held on May 2. "Stardust" filled everyone's eyes as we dined and danced in the Oxford Room, at Essex House. It was, surely, an unforgettable night, especially for Gail Schnegelberger and Charles Knehr who were elected Queen and King of the Ball. On June 3, we relived the famous past at our "Roaring 20's" dance. The appearance of some of our girls made one wonder if it really was 1958.

And so, with the termination of summer, our final term began. We held our final dance, the "12A Hop", on October 17. On Senior Day, November 21, we were hosts to the new 12B class who were recognized as Seniors, and who received the Torch of Knowledge from us.

Our final days were heralded by the Farewell Dance which was held on January 23. We bid each other and the school farewell, and thanked everyone for four wonderful years of study and pleasure. On January 28, 1959, we received our diplomas and, ceremonies over, proceeded from the auditorium to greet the friends and relatives who had joined us on this festive occasion. As we left the building we realized we would never again return as carefree students.

ESSEX HOUSE

The Senior Prom! It was a night we had all dreamed of since we were Freshmen!

Walking into the Oxford Room of the Essex House on the evening of May 2, 1958, escorted by a handsome gentleman or escorting a lovely lady, we experienced many emotions. The soft music and dimmed lights added to our feelings.

The girls looked lovely wearing yards and yards of chiffon and lace. The corsages they wore were the loveliest ever seen. With tiaras crowning their heads, each and every girl looked like a story-book princess.

The gentlemen seemed extra-handsome on this festive occasion. Instead of the usual slacks and sport shirts, they had donned white dinner jackets, black striped trousers, and plaid bow ties. Fitting dress for a formal dinner, indeed!

After everyone had arrived and had been seated, dinner was served. The menu included grapefruit supreme, consommé, a choice of roast chicken or baked halibut, potatoes, peas and carrots. We finished the meal with Essex log and tea, coffee, or milk.

Dinner being over, several couples rose either to dance or to take pictures which recorded not only our images but memories as well.

Our evening was fleeting. The hours went as minutes, minutes as seconds, and time sped off into eternity. At the stroke of 11:00 p.m. selecting the King and Queen began. This selection was based on the couple's appearance, personality, and poise.

After much deliberation by the judges, Gail Schnegelberger and her escort, Charles Knehr, were chosen King and Queen. Three other couples were picked as their court. They were Carol Marek and Michael Liszewski, Priscilla Silveira and Wayne Kresge, and Angie Aznar and Bob Kulinski.

Once again the music began, but our Prom had come to an end. Soon the ballroom would be empty but the evening had only begun. The destination of most of the Seniors was New York City where many went to the Hawaiian Room, and others to the Latin Quarter, or Copacabana.

Quickly, much too quickly, the hours went by. In the wee hours of the morning we hastened home, our arms laden with souvenirs we would treasure for the rest of our lives as remembrances of the night we spent in Stardust. Stardust, our Prom!

Last Will

We, the members of the Class of January, 1959, being of sound mind, memory and understanding, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our Last Will and Testament:

To MR. ACKERMAN, our principal, we leave the hope that he will enjoy his forthcoming years in the principalship of this great school.

TO MR. GRIFFITHS we leave the hope that he has enjoyed our company as much as we have enjoyed his.

To MR. JANNARONE, our class adviser, we leave a class which will never go into debt, which will pay all dues promptly, and which will be willing to work for its own good.

To MISS CRUMMY, our guidance counselor, we leave the wish for a group of students who will know what subjects to take and who are willing to work hard at them.

For DR. CAVICCHIA, poor lad, we wish a group of Seniors who can think of something original for The Torch and thus avoid his perennial — and justifiable — accusations of plagiarism.

To MRS. KELLY we give thanks for her cooperation and assistance in the typing of material for this book.

To MISS GRONHEIT we leave a home room full of quiet, diligent, honor students.

To MR. JAY we leave a home room where the silence will remain unbroken by the chicking and chucking of synchronized gum-chewing.

For MR. MAGISTRO, erstwhile class adviser during the illness of Mr. Jannarone, we leave the wish for spirited classes whose pockets jingle with currency.

To MR. BOGATKO, ever-plagued with all-male home rooms, we leave a room full of pretty girls.

To the remainder of the faculty we give our thanks for their efforts in teaching us not only cold factual subject matter, but also the finer things in life which make for better living and better citizenship. To them we leave, with our fondest thanks, the knowledge that their work was not in vain.

and Testament

To the FRESHMEN we leave the thrill of walking through the corridors where once we trod.

To the SOPHOMORES we leave the hope that they too will enjoy their stay at East Side.

To the JUNIOR B's we leave the thrill and excitement of their class rings.

To the JUNIOR A's we leave the warning that their remaining year will be filled with excitement, activity, and study.

To the SENIOR B's we leave the joys of the Senior Prom, Senior Day, and of The Torch of Knowledge which will be entrusted to them, which we know they will keep burning brightly until they pass it on to their successors.

Finally, to the entire student body we leave the awareness of their responsibility in keeping the name of East Side respected at all times.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 28th day of January, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-Nine.

Frank C. Jekol ●
Leroy B. Crawford ●
Mary Ann Di Girolas ●
Evangelina Byrnes ●

Signed, sealed, published, and declared as and for the Last Will and Testament of the Class of January, 1959 by its officers in the presence of us who, at their request, and in their presence, all being present at the same time, have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.
